GRAND
ENTIRE HOUSE OVER $1 MILLION

A whole-house renovation by BOWA improves the flow and functionality of a traditional home.

This project began with a consultation between BOWA and the homeowners before they actually purchased the house. The final plan involved extensive modifications to each floor of the home, to the exterior façades and to the rear patio and pool.

The main challenge was a dated, aesthetically unappealing staircase that ran the length of the great room and impeded the flow between kitchen, great room and patio. BOWA updated and relocated the stairs, which allowed for the design of a new master sitting room, a children's study and a laundry room.

The renovated home's interior details include wood paneling, custom cabinetry, faux-paint finishes and exquisite tile work. Hidden features—such as heated floors in the master bath—abound. The exterior features dentil molding on the new front portico, a resort-like pool with custom spa and waterfall feature and extensive landscaping.

The result is a transformed home that perfectly suits the family.
